EDITOR'S NOTE

THE LAST NEWSLETTER OF 2019!

It is with mixed feelings I write the last editor's note of the year. As with the end of every year, I tend to be in a reflective mood, thinking about what has happened in the twelve months past, what was accomplished and what was not, and also considering a new year that is full of promise and expectations. As you know, the EOORC has existed since January and I am very proud to have been a part of its inaugural year as the person responsible for delivering important information to EOORC members.

In 2020, we can look forward to continuing to build on the good work that has been done by the past and new executive members and. I will strive to keep communications relevant and will make every effort to ensure everything I send out is clear, concise and accessible.

I want to wish a blessed and happy Christmas to you and your families. I look forward to another year of activity beginning with the Winter Meeting in February (which I will be attending via Zoom). See you at the Annual Meeting in Cornwall in May.

LIVING GENEROUSLY by Trisha Elliot

Grow in your capacity to be a disciple and follower of Jesus! Check out I Intend. One of the most exciting, new stewardship resources for individuals and groups, I Intend is a discipleship program about intentional living, to be held over any six week period of the year. The free and adaptable resource focuses on five areas of living out generosity and stewardship: time, talent, treasure, environment and physical and mental well-being. Each session offers an opportunity to reflect on life, ask some key questions, discern God's call for faithful living, decide on suitable spiritual practices and record the practices in Intention statements. Suitable or any time of the year, I Intend is definitely a solid resource to lay your hands on.

Living Generously is a regular feature in EOORC News. If you would like to learn more about the ways we change lives together through Mission & Service, the latest in giving resources and/ or how your congregation can grow in generosity, contact Trisha Elliott, our region's stewardship and gifts officer at TElliott@united-church.ca 613-299-8960.
